Luther Sexton "Dec" Elliott, 82, of Bay St. Louis, died Monday, April 25, at his home on Second Street. Beloved husband of the late Margie Kirschenheuter Elliott, he was the son of the late Edwin Davige Elliott and Ella Victoria Lowe. Born Nov. 9, 1894, he moved to Bay St. Louis from New Orleans in 1927.

A veteran newspaperman of 52 years service, Dec Elliott was best known for his weekly fishing column 'Kantcha' Ketchum', which appeared weekly over the last 25 years. The column included fishing hints, news of local conditions and a constant series of interviews with local and visiting personalities. Shoreline drowning reported

For the second weekend in a row Hancock County has recorded a drowning in the Bay-Waveland area. Late Saturday afternoon, five year old Travis Scott Lindsey became the second victim of drowning when his death was recorded near his home in the Shoreline Park area. His parents were listed as Mr. and Mrs. George Lindsey.

According to reports, the youngster apparently fell into a bayou at the rear of his home.

Hancock County Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson said the sheriff's office was notified on the mishap about 4:30 p.m. Dragging operations in the bayou were begun shortly afterward by units of the

CCF closing is denied

By JAKE JACOB

Stories in circulation concerning the closure of the Crippled Children's Foundation in Kiln are not true, according to David Turner, president.

Turner said yesterday that the CCF's operations have been suspended to permit its therapist to take a three week vacation.

He said the center will reopen long before the end of May.

The question concerning an operating fund lack having caused the reported closure is one to which Turner retorted, "I don't know where they got their information."

"We have never known where the next month's money is going to come from. We have faith that contributions from the public will continue to let us operate.

"We certainly don't have a surplus and never have had..."

Hancock County Beat 5 Supervisor James Travica appointed by the supervisors to aid in finding an alternate sponsor for the center, after Turner early this year offered to turn it over to them "lock, stock, and barrel..." said Wednesday that he had no personal knowledge of any closing reports.

Travica indicated a sponsoring organization had been located but that the details of the transfer remained to be worked out.

Biloxi news sources reported CCF fund raising activities from that area over the weekend, reports partially verified and partially denied by Turner.

Turner said that the sale of tickets on a Shopping Spree chance were being sold in North Biloxi and would continue so to be.

"We plan to continue selling these tickets and I urge everybody to buy one," Turner said.

However, questioned on the sale of peanuts, at a location reported as being in front of the Food Center at Division in Biloxi, Turner responded that he was "...without knowledge..." of such activity.

The Crippled Children's Foundation has attracted the attention of the Hancock County Grand Jury, the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, and the Consumer Protection Division of the state attorney general's office. Of concern to all, according to their issued reports, was the foundation's fund raising policies, tight corporate structure, and management.

At the time of his asking the supervisors to assume control of the facility, Turner stated that adverse publicity has hindered attempts of successful operation.

Gibson leaves state PC

Perry Gibson, of Bay St. Louis, member of Mississippi Parks and Commission, was told by Governor Cliff Finch on Monday that he would not be receiving reappointment.

Gibson who served as president of the commission during 1976, was informed by Finch of a new appointment in the office, one the governor said, was of importance, of interest to Gibson and, in the nature of a promotion.

Vandals strike at Waveland Elementary

By JAKE JACOB
Investigation is continuing into a serious incident of vandalism which occurred late Saturday at Waveland Elementary School. Police Chief Donald Dorn said

Monday that his department has several leads into the case, described by school principal Douglas McQueen as being the most serious of its type sustained at that location.

Damage estimates were given early this week as being in the region of $1500, the cost of replacing broken and damaged window glass, entrance door locks, and the repair of school equipment.

Clean-up resulting from the broken glass, soiled hallways, scattering of trash throughout school property and the like, is in addition to this.

McQueen said that one room occupied by Grade Three, sustained the most damage and was the subject of the vandal's main attentions.

"Desks were overturned, lockers emptied, trash, crayons, and so forth thrown everywhere, as well as the windows being broken."

"Another room received their attention, but here litter was the main result."

"Other areas were entered but no damage resulted."

"The vandals broke three windows and left traces of similar attempts on

Correction

In a political announcement last Sunday for Albert D. Biehl, Jr., candidate for BSL Councilman-at-Large, we incorrectly quoted him on a statement involving the Webb Center.

The statement by Biehl should have said, "I don't think the city should sell the Webb Center as it could be used as a community center for the youth and adults of our community."

The ECHO regrets the error and is happy to make the correction.

Paul Lewis announces in District Two

Paul M. Lewis, has made his formal announcement as a candidate for Councilman - District 2.

Lewis said, "With a change in our local government, I feel that the opportunity for full participation by the citizens of Bay St. Louis is at hand. Having been a resident of this city for more than 35 years, I feel I am justly qualified to seek the office of Councilman of District 2."

"Through observation and participation in local organizations, there are a few pressing issues that deeply concern me as a citizen of this community."

Ole Miss Bureau examines Migrant Program in state

Mississippi public schools are now serving approximately 1,000 more migrant students than in 1975 when the federal government first recognized fishermen as migrants.

A 1976 Migrant Evaluation Report just released by the State Education Department examines all 13 of the state's local migrant education programs and the 5,535 students served by them. Compiled by The University of Mississippi's Bureau of Educational Research, this year's report includes the children of migrant fishermen in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties.

"The Health, Education and Welfare Department is recognizing migrant fishermen for the first time, bringing about a considerable increase in migrant students," said Dr. Bob N. Cage, director of the Bureau of Educational Research at Ole Miss.

Migrant education is a federally funded project established by an amendment to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in 1966. Mississippi receives $2 million of the total $130,809,832 spent for migrant education in 46 states and Puerto Rico, with the largest percentage going to California, Texas, Florida and New York.

Each of the 13 programs in Mississippi is administered at the local education level by a migrant or Title I coordinator. Major components of the migrant programs are education, health and supportive services.

Eleven of the 13 programs provided teacher-tutorial services and 12 districts provided comprehensive health services. Teacher-tutorial programs furnished curricula emphasis in reading, mathematics and language arts.

One district supplied limited tutorial programs in art, speech therapy and social science, and two districts had a pre-school program.

Of the 5,535 migrants age 0-20 receiving one or more of these services, 4,458 were of school age and of them 4,147 were enrolled in school. Approximately 95 percent of those enrolled in school participated in a teacher-tutorial program of some type, according to the Ole Miss report.

In the area of health care services, 3,434 students received screenings for visual impairments, 1,426 children received immunizations and 624 children got complete physical examinations.

Supportive services were rendered to 2,505 children who received one or more home visits, 1,855 children getting one or more free books and 1,068 receiving an assortment of tooth brushes, toothpaste, soap and other health and grooming products.

Dr. Cage said that in comparison with similar services provided in 1975, the percentage of children getting health services was up 30 percent from 68 to 78 percent, and those receiving home visits increased from 58 to 61 percent.

Although this is the end of only the second full year of migrant education studies, there is evidence of an increase in learning achievement among migrant children. However, the increase is not statistically significant, said Dr. Cage.

"Migrant students are as good as the Title I students (students who score one grade level or more below average are eligible for Title I funds)," said the Ole Miss Bureau director, "but it remains evident that migrant students continue to fall behind in achievement as they progress through the grade levels."

Obvious reasons for this regression, he said, were probably caused by migration from one school system to another.

Using eight grade as a benchmark, the median grade-equivalent for the migrant students was 5.30 in reading and 6.5 in mathematics, placing most of them two to three years behind the normal student, the report stated.

Teachers, staff and administrators were interviewed by the research team and most were very positive toward the program, the study said.

"Constructive criticism was concerned mainly with better communications with parents and the need in a few districts for additional staff to reduce the number of duties for one person," the report reads.

Throughout all districts the scores on self-concept tests showed "migrant" students scoring above the median. The report recommends more effort by all programs servicing middle and upper grade students to enhance the students' academic skills especially in reading and mathematics. Additional personnel in health services was also suggested.

Rev. Johnson resigns as headmaster

Rev. Charles R. Johnson rector, Christ Episcopal Church, Bay St. Louis, and headmaster of the Coast Episcopal Schools, has announced his decision to resign his school administrative duties effective at the end of this school year.

He will continue to serve as chairman of the board of trustees and as elementary and high school religion teacher.

At the time of his announcement Rev. Johnson said he feels the school system has grown to such proportions it needs the attention of a full-time headmaster.

Rev. Johnson initiated the church's school system in 1950, when he opened a nursery at the request of parents. "There were 17 students at the school whereas we now have over 300," he said.

The school expanded at the rate of a grade each year, keeping abreast of the students' achievements, until finally the need for a high school unit became obvious.

This unit was built on Esby Ave., Pass Christian, the day school staying at its traditional location behind the church buildings on Beach Blvd. The school employs 10 teachers in the elementary section and 17 in the high school.

Even now requiring 20 units for graduation instead of the traditional public school requirement of 16, the Episcopal system is working towards the establishment of an honors program, permitting further courses and electives. Once established this will raise the credit level expected of eligible students to the 24 or 26 mark.

The schools presently offer languages beyond the second year in Latin, French, Spanish and German, and advance courses in science, math, and English.

Rev. Johnson said the primary purpose behind the educational plant's founding was to "...set a standard of excellence and to train students for college."

The success of these aims is best illustrated by the success of the schools' students whose graduates have been able to pick their choice of colleges and universities.

"Happy birthday time three, Happy birthday from me Happy birthday from me" Mrs. Daramenti.

From your cabaret host Minacappelli.

And following that, Plaza Suite, the show now playing at Minacappelli's Cabaret Theatre on Cousin St., Slidell, turned on its lights.

Directed by Zephirin Hymel, the three-act play is in reality separate scenes of life that, by circumstance, are connected by their taking place in Suite 719 of the Plaza Hotel in New York City.

The play, as always in this unique center of semi-professional theatre, follows close on the expressions of contentment displayed by patrons whose inner selves are full of Minacappelli fare, cooked - the host claims, by his wife Nellie. If this is true then for him divorce should be out of the question, as without doubt, the prime roast beef, lasagna, baked chicken, stuffed eggplant, broccoli creamed with mushrooms, Irish potatoes, Italian bean salad, salad d'jour and cherry cobbler, could be in no way accepted by the courts as ground. The excellence of the cuisine on Cousin passeth all understanding.

The vocals by Minacappelli do take a little understanding however, but once one is over the initial shock, his Italian "barumtone" is acceptable and draws audience response in raucous fashion.

Minacappelli utilizes his throat chords both prior to the stage presentation, at the player piano, for singing happy birthday - to anybody who happens to have one that day, and hollering for the kitchen help to remove his laden tables of goodies to let the show open.

He accompanies his singing with a kunkle-load of working guitar strings also tuned in various keys.

Act 1, features the stage talents of Jinx Fowlkes as Karen Nash, and Rick Stephens as Sam Nash, supported by Mark Holley and Lisa Arlo, as the bell hop and Jean McCormack, respectively.

The Nash couple, married to these many years, are to reenact their honeymoon through the necessity of home evacuation caused by house painters.

Mrs. Nash is a mite cunning and Nash himself all wrapped up in computer statistics, big business, and an affair with his secretary, Miss McCormack.

Although packing his toothbrush, Ms. Nash manages to forget her husband's pajamas, a factor she claims can be corrected by the store in the lobby, who can either send up their catalog or would be take "pot luck?"

The act ends with he, forgiven, taking himself away to the office for a "computer run" - she ordering up the champagne - and the "bell hop hopping" for seduction.

Lisa Arlo switches to the lead role in Act Two, where, via a series of "pace changers" she transforms herself between the allurer, alluree, and allured, with Hollywood producer Jesse Kiplinger, who by happenchance is an ex school chum.

Both give creditable performances in a comedy routine that borders on vaudeville, but results in a fairly high audience reaction landing beyond the point where as she is being somewhat willingly edged off stage right - to the boudoir, some fancy slight of hand by some Kiplinger manages to result in an active display of falline raiment.

The final stanza of Plaza Suite, centers on the bathroom door. In front of the door are a bride's parents. Locked firmly within - is the bride.

The parents are anxious for the bride to unlock the door and descend to the four musicians playing - at 70 per hour a piece: the $200 worth of frankfurter, all in her $400 wedding dress.

Thoughts briefly entertained by the mother, Rosa Lee-Kennedy, that nobody will notice their daughter's absence, are set aside by her husband, Stephen B. Cefalu, with the assurance that once the bridegroom says, "I do" then turns and notices there is nobody standing next to him - somebody is going to suspect something.

Consideration given to murder is justified by the father as a "non conviction Suite."

case" doubting if a jury would wish for harm to befall him after they had reviewed the wedding bills.

Some stockings get torn, some people walk around ledges eight stories in the air, and yet another person sustains a broken arm.

Everything works out well in the end and the bride unlocks the door.

How or why is the secret of the whole thing, but only one of the reasons you should visit Minacappelli's to see Plaza Suite.

MRS. ERWIN TRUETT, Lisa Howell, and Mrs. Gary Gilmore (L-R) display a ticket to El Salvador. Some lucky person will win the trip at Christ Episcopal's Annual Spring Festival on April 30th.

Boudin assumes duties as new CD Director

By JERRY WHITTE
Bob Boudin assumed the duties of Civil Defense Director for Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County the first of April and is in the process of planning better operations of the facilities.

During a press conference Friday, Boudin outlined various procedures and methods of operation used by his office in the event of an emergency. He said he had just returned from a recent trip to Jackson where he and other Civil Defense personnel had presented projected budgets for the next five years.

In addition to budget plans, Boudin is currently working on improvement of communications and equipment at the local office. Future plans call for a simulated alert to test the reactions and methods of operation at the CD office.

A major plan for better communications is an alert system within the schools, both public and private. This will be accomplished by the purchase of some 30 monitors to be located in every school within Hancock County, at the superintendents' offices and homes. The cost of each monitor, $150, will be paid for by federal funding and the remaining 50 percent by the schools in which the monitors are placed.

During the Friday press conference, Boudin conducted a tour of the CD office, explaining various operations and gave an update on the amount and condition of equipment.

In discussing the operations of the Civil Defense, Boudin said, "We hope we never have to use the plans, but we must be ready in the event of a disaster. Our main concern is preparation, not use."

Boudin serves under an Executive Civil Defense Committee, composed of BSL Commissioner Lucien Kidd, Waveland Mayor Johnny Longo and Alton Kellar, President of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. Funding of the civil defense operations comes from federal and local monies on a 50-50 basis.

In the event of an alert, either a watch or warning, the Civil Defense office is manned on an around-the-clock basis. Normal business hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Boudin said, "In a recent study, it was learned 35 percent of the people do not know what Civil Defense does. We want to make the people more aware of our job and let them know what we can offer if our services are needed."

In an effort to inform the public about the different procedures and services, a weekly column will be offered to readers and is entitled, "Did You Know?" Boudin will also present a list of fall out shelters within Hancock County, of which there are 30, and will ask for columns from police and fire department officials.

The local Civil Defense office keeps a constant check on weather developments by use of a weather teletype from Mobile, they also have a direct line to Jackson and have contact with New Orleans.

"The main entrance doors on the west side had glass taken out with what looks like pellet guns, and both those and the main, east, entrance doors, sustained heavy damage to door locks and latches."

School authorities said their custodian, Benny Brink, with their assistance tried to have all traces of the affair cleaned up before the students arrived for school on Monday.

Brink was also charged with removing egg traces from the north wall against which it appeared complete cartons of eggs were thrown.

The first break through in the case came when footprints showed two small persons were involved. One was wearing sneakers, and left a clear series of footprints inside the school at several locations, and the other, who also left considerable numbers of tracks, was barefoot.

The barefoot person left the smaller print of the two, a print that would have remained less than that of his partner even had he been wearing shoes.

Other evidence discovered at the scene is being assessed without comment by police.

In other vandalistic incidents Waveland recently suffered a minor theft at the community center, one involving the removal of a flower box and pots; had obscenities painted on the white picnic shelter supports at Garfield Lader Memorial Pier; had a report of damage at Elwood Bourgeois Memorial Park.

When asked if the firemen offered any reason for the walk out, Mayor Carver said, "They didn't come to me, they just walked out. There was some dissatisfaction with the affairs of the fire department and several small things snowballed into what they thought was bigger."

Hwy 90 WavelandFor pulpwood operation*Hazard determination to be sought by Haas

A hazard determination of pulpwood barge loading operations at Kiln is to be sought prior to any issuance or denial of a bulkheading permit to International Paper Company by the Mississippi Marine Resources Council.

Council member J. Norton Haas of Bay St. Louis, sought the delay last week. Haas on Tuesday said he wanted some state authority - like the boat safety commission, to check the situation over before the company spent its money.

"After the money is spent and it is later determined the loading operation creates a hazard to other river traffic, people will want to know why we didn't consider this possibility prior to issuing the permit."

forward into the June 7 general election. Here, all candidates, Democrats winning both the first and second primary elections, and Independents, will be listed with the Republicans on the same ballot.

The Carver move automatically advances him and his former opponent to the general election, to face the winner of the five way Democratic race.

In his announcement concerning the change, Carver says, "Because there are two Republican candidates for council in District 2, necessitating a Republican primary, my friends and supporters who would vote for me in the primary would be deprived of the privilege of voting for mayor."

"Therefore, after much deliberation, I have decided to run as an independent candidate for councilman in District 2, solely for the purpose of allowing my supporters to vote for the mayor of their choice."

Under the somewhat complicated election rules, had Carver not dropped his GOP affiliation a separate voting center at Sy Rosenthal Gymnasium, site of the District 2 polling center, would have had to be set up. Republican voters would have been required to enter the voting place through a separate door and to their being checked through on a separate set of poll books.

This would have limited Republicans to voting only for their two candidates and therefore, they would have had no voice in the selection of a mayor until the general election. Of the four qualified mayoralty candidates, three are running as Democrats and one as an Independent.

Under the "cleared away" move, all voters will be able to cast ballots for mayor, councilman-at-large, and councilman from their district in all three elections - the two primaries and the general election.

In preparing for his new political designation, Carver submitted a letter of withdrawal to Dr. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., chairman, Republican Executive Committee, who originally approved the GOP endorsement.

A second letter was then sent to Lucien Kidd, city clerk, announcing his withdrawal as the Republican candidate, a letter subsequently verified in his meeting an Independent candidate's petition requirements.

Company claimed this week that their main concern is to stabilize the river bank, now plagued with erosion.

IP said they intended to spend some $1500,000 on the project in an effort to establish a permanent, well planned facility.

Involved will be the driving of some 80 feet of bulkheading followed by a dredge operation to deepen the leading area and stabilize the bank.

IP said the area utilized by them is subject to silting a situation that should be corrected by the new bulkheading.

Haas agreed with IP but indicated alternatives existed and should be explored.

He said that IP intends to load the barges lengthwise, in continuation of an existing policy - meaning that the length of the barge projects across the river.

"We know a barge is 40 feet wide but we don't know what lengths are involved," Haas said.

All we are trying to determine is if a hazard will be created by such a loading operation.

"I am not against the International Paper Company in fact I am their friend as they have an industry here."

"In questioning me about this matter you are talking to an ill-informed fellow but one that intends to get informed, and be informed, before the next MMRC session," he added.

Haas indicated that a slip, cut into the landing several years ago, could be cleaned out and utilized for loading or the barge could be loaded sideways to the river instead of lengthwise.

"I was told they load them endways for economic reasons as such saves them money. The financial affairs of IP are not my responsibility."

"I am trying to be fair and to exercise my best judgement. To do this I feel I need more information and that is what I have set out to get," Haas concluded.

The barge loading dock is located adjacent to the old sawmill site on the north bank of Jourdan River to the east of State Highway 603.

Pleasure boat traffic, is constantly on the increase in that area. An MMRC consideration is that such traffic may be encountering undue difficulty in navigation, particularly after dark, with the barges extending lengthwise into the river.

With the opening of McLeod State Park, to the west of Highway 603, this non-commercial traffic is expected to increase, a factor also influencing the MMRC investigation of possible hazard.

Patrolman dies of gunshot

The Mississippi Highway Patrol office in Gulfport had no official statement yesterday concerning the death Tuesday evening of Patrolman John Paulsen, 28, of Long Beach, the apparent victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner of Hancock County reported yesterday that the incident occurred about 7 p.m. at Jourdan River Shores off Highway 603.

"It appears," Ladner said, "that Paulsen and a friend of his, had gone target shooting up 603.

"Following their practice session they turned off the highway into the Jourdan River Shores development where they seemingly parked and talked.

"Paulsen, who was a passenger in the car, was apparently messing around with his gun while they were talking. It looks like the gun accidentally fired, and the bullet went through his abdomen and lodged in the spine. This at least is what we have been informed following a medical review of X-rays taken last night."

"The bullet appears to have come from a .357 magnum, the same type as the patrolman's service weapon."

The call was received in the sheriff's office at 7:30 p.m. Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, and Deputies Paul Bernard, Fairley Neale, and John Felder responded.

Upon their arrival at Jourdan River they found Paulsen lying on the ground alongside the car.

Paulsen, transported by Mobile Medic, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital.

Inspector George Saxton, Assistant Inspector Robert Blackwell, and Assistant District Attorney J. S. Owens are conducting investigations on behalf of the patrol.

Married and father of two children, Paulsen was off duty and in civilian clothes at the time of the accident.

I operate a small business and would like some information on how I might provide a supplemental retirement plan for my employees.

You might consider a deferred compensation plan based on the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) to further fund retirement income. Funding through company-owned (not taxable to the employee) life insurance on the employee whereby a definite amount is paid each year to the employee upon retirement. Payments are not made in the employee's name... saving him liability from current income taxes. Cash values remain part of company assets. At retirement age, the insurance can be surrendered and cash value used to make retirement payments. The payments are tax-deductible by the company. Deferred compensation, as an added retirement plan, saves tax dollars for both company and employee.

SENATE BILL 2165

County Affairs and Municipalities

This act provides that all county and municipal funds not needed for expenditure within the next thirty (30) days may be invested in depositories at a rate of interest not less than a certain rate. It also makes uniform the laws concerning investment of county and municipal funds. For the first time, excess county funds may be deposited in state depositories, which includes federally insured savings and loan associations. Excess funds may also be invested in county, municipal or school district bonds. With certain exceptions, the act also provides that any interest derived from the investments may be paid into the General Fund. Instead of back into the fund in which the interest was earned.

EDUCATION H. R. 813

This act amends the Code to provide a different date for notice of nonreemployment of a superintendent, a principal, a teacher or other professional educator. Such employee is entitled to receive a written notice of the reasons for his nonreemployment at least five days prior to any hearing before the school board or hearing officer. If the employee is aggrieved by the final decision, he may appeal it to the chancery court of the judicial district in which the school district is located.

HOUSE BILL 400

This act amends the Code to revise the teachers' pay scale, supportive services and experience increases. This act also clarifies certain terms used in the Minimum Education Program law and changes the determination for teacher units. This act adds allotments for other current costs and other total costs to supportive services. This act also renubbers the Code sections of Chapter 19, Title 37, and amends the Code references to conform thereto.

Summary of H. R. 189

Changes present court procedure which requires at least twelve members of the grand jury to be present when indictments are returned. Under this bill, only the foreman needs to be present for such proceeding; however, the foreman shall present his affidavit that the indictments were returned in by at least twelve members and that at least fifteen members were present during all deliberations as required by law.

This measure will save taxmoney of the counties and will be a great convenience to grand jury members.

The world seems a little sadder this week with the loss of a friend and co-worker, L. S. (Dec) Elliott. Although we worked with Dec only a few short months, he earned our respect and gratitude for a job well done. Each Monday we could always expect a visit and short chat with Dec and his ever-familiar "stogie." His copy, always handwritten, was always on time for deadlines and his style was all his own. Dec had gone to meet his reward and we know the lake will be filled with plenty of big bass. Fishing just won't seem the same any more without Dec.

Whittlin' With Whittle

By JERRY WHITTLE
ECHO MANAGING EDITOR

Mrs. Bell Nelson, 125 Washington, had need of the fire department recently and it was only a matter of minutes before the police and firemen arrived to assist in her time of need. This note of thanks brings to mind something we all don't realize until we are confronted with the situation such as Mrs. Nelson. Have you stopped to think how important and, most times, how little appreciation we show for these two important jobs? Often, it's too little, too late. These folks serve us in so many different ways and at all hours of the day and night. The pay is never enough and the thanks is always slow in coming. Many many times a policeman or fireman is out in the early morning hours protecting our property and lives while we are safe at home in bed. Pause a few moments the next time you meet a policeman or fireman and thank them for their service.

This driving is driving me crazy (or more crazy). Still taking about the left lanes who hug "their" side of the road and refuse to let the faster drivers have the road. The state highway department should take a few lessons from the folks in Louisiana. As you cross the Mississippi River Bridge there is a signal to warn you if you are traveling too fast. We would like to see a similar sign installed on Hwy. 90 which would flash, "You're driving in the left lane too slow...move over!" Sure beats honking and flashing.

Things were a little hot and heavy Tuesday night at the Kiln. A two hour meeting was held at Annunciation School to talk over the problems the folks are having getting their road fixed. They got a lot of promises, but now they're waiting to see some action. Time will tell.

Have a nice day.

By printing our pictures and stories, you aided the National Library Week Committee, our Library Board of Trustees, and Library staff in making the public more aware of the value of the Library in today's society.

The Library serves the public in many ways. Through books, magazines, films and records, the Library reaches many different types of people. The Library truly has something to offer to everyone.

In the past, the Library has been taken for granted by many people. Through our combined efforts, we hope this isn't true any more.

Thank you again for your help and support. National Library Week would not have been the same without it!

Sincerely,
Prima Wunsack, Director

Open letter to the Hancock County Board of Education:

Due to one unfortunate incident (by an individual), our entire class is being made to pay.

Is this fair???
We, the Senior Class of 1977 of Hancock North Central High School, think not. We feel you rate a failing grade where justice is concerned.

If one person in your administration makes a mistake, are you all held responsible, and punished? Where does the responsibility end? You're also part of the school system, so are the teachers, so are the Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors.

We've looked forward to these last few weeks of High School. We regret the incident that occurred, but we feel that as a body, the class is not responsible.

We are in our twelfth year of learning; would you teach us fairness?
Sincerely,
Albert J. Necase, President

Letters to The Editor,
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Sir:
I wish to publicly express my astonishment at the stand recently taken by the Hancock General Hospital Board of Directors in discontinuing the O.B. Wing, and depriving not only Dr. Helen McGeehee of these facilities, without any kind of notice, but by their decision, causing untold mental anguish, as well as financial hardship to those women who are in the last stages of their pregnancy.

We, the taxpayers, voted on a bond issue to build this hospital, and it receives federal funds under the Hill-Burton Act. Evidently the trustees do not give a damn about the expectant mothers, or they would have voted to give Dr. McGeehee at least a three months notice, so she could take care of those who have been going to her and getting such good pre-natal care.

Or when you get really down to the bottom of all this, could the reason be that Dr. Helen McGeehee is a woman and she has dared to come to Hancock County and show to all that sex does not a Doctor make?

I personally think she has been shamefully treated, and I think that in the future the trustees of Hancock General Hospital will realize that this decision was the biggest mistake they have ever made.

Respectfully,
Nina S. Garcia
Waveland, Ms.

Worried Grandmother to be any day now.

Dear Editor:
Too many people put down our hospital here at Hancock General. Well, let me say something.

Hancock General is one of the best equipped hospitals around here. We also have some of the best qualified nurses and have a doctor here on call at night and private doctors here in the daytime.

If people would only realize the job the nurses have is tremendous because there is maybe one nurse for ten patients but we have aids to help and they do their best.

I think if people appreciate what we have and use our facility they don't have to drive 26 miles to Gulfport or 60 miles to New Orleans. We have the best right here.

I know I've been in a New Orleans Hospital at $160 per day and didn't get any better treatment than what I got here.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Edith Juneau

Consumer Report

Part of being a smart shopper is knowing what kind of warranty the product carries. Now, thanks to new regulations from the Federal Trade Commission implementing the Warranty Act, it should be easier to compare warranties. Any time you buy a consumer product costing more than $15, and having a warranty, the warranty must be easy to read and available to you before you buy. If you don't see it near the product, be sure to ask for it.

There are two kinds of written warranties - full and limited. A product can carry more than one written warranty. For example, it can have a full warranty on part of the product and a limited warranty on the rest.

The label "full" on a warranty means that:

A defective product will be fixed (or replaced free).
It will be fixed within a reasonable time after you complain.

You won't have to do anything unreasonable to get warranty service (such as ship a piano to the factory).

The warranty is good for anyone who owns the product during the warranty period.

If the product can't be fixed (or hasn't been after a reasonable number of tries), you get your choice of a new one or your money back.

But, always check what the warranty covers. A "full" warranty doesn't have to cover the whole product. It may cover only part of the product, like the picture tube of a T.V. Or, it may leave out some parts, like tires on a car.

A warranty is "limited" if it gives you anything less than what a full warranty gives. "Limited" means be careful - something's missing. For example a limited warranty may cover only parts, not labor. Or it may cover only the first purchaser. You may find it worthwhile to pay more for a product with a better warranty.

Washington Report

by Rep. Trent Lott

WHY NOT THE BEST?

Many of us have heard the saying, "the best defense is a good offense." Unfortunately, the Congress of the United States doesn't seem to feel this way. A few weeks ago I voiced my objection to the five and a quarter billion we'll be spending for foreign aid.

This week I want to alert you to a far greater problem: inadequate money for our national defense.

This past week the Armed Services Committee reported the defense authorization, a bill that was clearly inadequate. The Committee report admits that we are falling desperately behind the Russians, yet this year's budget does nothing to remedy the

1975	US	USSR	USSR-US
ICBMs	1,054	1,600	1.5 to 1
SLBMs	656	730	1.3 to 1
Strategic Bombers	497	160	1 to 3
Other Aircraft	6,800	10,500	1.5 to 1
Helicopters	9,000	2,500	1 to 3.6
Tanks	9,000	42,000	4.6 to 1
Artillery	8,000	20,000	3 to 1
Major Combatant Ships	172	229	1.3 to 1
General Purpose Submarines	75	255	3.4 to 1

problem. Let's take a look at the figures. President Ford originally asked the Congress for $38,454,280,000. Then President Carter came along and slashed the budget, requesting $35,853,180,000. The Committee has finally decided to provide the Department of Defense with $35,913,976,000, a mere $60 million more than President Carter's request. Now I know that this all sounds like a lot of money. Yet when you stop and look at the numbers, you realize that the final figure is $2.5 billion less than President Ford's request, which was less than the Department of Defense's initial request. Keep in mind that we give away for foreign aid a little more than one-seventh of all the money we have for our defense weaponry. How can we maintain an adequate, much less a superior defense, with a budget that has declined for four straight years?

More importantly, with each of our decreasing budgets, the Russians, who are determined to surpass us militarily, are surging ahead of us in almost every category. The only areas in which we are superior, as you can see, are in helicopters and strategic bombers. The Russians outnumber us heavily everywhere else.

The Russians are particularly strong on the seas, an area which is vital to our national defense and livelihood. This is an aspect which I consider deplorable. As my colleague from California, Congressman Bob Wilson noted, "Warships cannot be built overnight."

Admiral Rickover made our naval dilemma even clearer when he said, "The excuse for not building better ships is always that they are 'more expensive.' But all weapons of defense are expensive. Cheap weapons will not win a war. And if we cannot win a war, there is no sense in spending money on weapons at all."

Yet we're not spending the money and we're not building ships. An example of this can be seen in a simple comparison. Two hundred years ago our forefathers in the Second Continental Congress authorized the funds for the building of nine combatant ships. This year's Congress has provided for twelve such ships. It seems pitiful that after two hundred years as a growing and thriving nation our country's authorization for its naval ships is not much greater than it was at the time of our birth. The Russians, meanwhile, are building at an ever burgeoning rate.

This Administration has recommended a budget for our defense that continues this downward trend. We are dependent upon the military for our survival. Yet we are cutting our defense budget for the sake of other programs. President Carter wrote a book entitled Why Not the Best? He used this title as his main campaign theme. That is the question in this very issue: why not the best?

Governor Cliff Finch REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

JACKSON - It was my pleasure recently to take part in what I believe was an historic moment in the economic and agricultural development of our state.

The occasion was the announcement of a rice processing plant to be built in Greenville by the Uncle Ben Rice Company, one of the nation's leading companies in its field.

This company will provide 150 new jobs in the Washington County area, but the real significance of the announcement lies in its potential benefit for all Mississippians.

The Uncle Ben plant represents a major step in our efforts to process within Mississippi our own agricultural products. There is no sound reason why Mississippi farmers should ship their products to another state for processing when we produce enough to operate our own mills and provide additional jobs for our people. This applies not only to rice, but to all agricultural crops.

Let's take rice for example. In the past, rice farmers in Mississippi have been shipping their harvests to Houston, Texas, for processing. Uncle Ben has the capacity to mill all the rice grown in Mississippi, plus part of the harvests from Louisiana and Arkansas. The location of a processing plant in Mississippi will give our rice farmers a competitive edge they have not enjoyed in the past through a reduction in shipping costs. Uncle Ben also brings to our state a marketing capability that is unmatched by any rice company in our country.

Because of Uncle Ben's prominence in its field, we are confident that processors of other agricultural products will take notice of the feasibility, practicality and profit of locating plants in Mississippi.

The same benefits that will accrue to the rice farmers could be duplicated in every other agricultural crop if we can get the processors to locate in our state. I think we have the capability of doing this and are devoting much of our economic development expertise in this direction.

Our efforts in this area are the result of our need to place more emphasis in helping develop all areas of our state, particularly the rural areas. Agricultural processing plants are a natural for Mississippi, and we will continue to pursue such plants with all the energy and resources we have.

Lott asks fresh water for Gulf's wildlife

On Monday, March 31, Congressman Trent Lott (R-Miss.) appeared before the House Subcommittee on Public Works Appropriations to support the fresh water introduction project, which would bring the fresh waters of the Mississippi into the Gulf of Mexico. Congressman Lott asked the Subcommittee to fund a study which could be beneficial to all Mississippi Gulf fishermen, as the Gulf fishing zone would grow and the fish and wildlife increase in number if the project is approved.

V A News

The primary method mentioned over the years for bringing fresh water in the Gulf has been the careful opening of the Bonne Carre spillway, which is located 24 miles north of New Orleans on the Mississippi. Since its operation began in 1932, the spillway has been opened three times. Each time, marine life has improved and fish and wildlife production has increased.

During his testimony, the Congressman emphasized just what fresh water could do for fish and wildlife reproduction. He told the Subcommittee that the introduction of river water would slow down the deterioration of the environment and would improve the living and breeding conditions for not only oysters, muskrats and waterfowl, but for most other fish and wildlife in these areas as well.

Congressman Lott then went on to stress the fact that the release of fresh waters into the Gulf must be controlled. He testified, "Because of the polluted condition of the Mississippi River waters, and because of the harmful effects of over exposure to fresh water, it is imperative that the fresh water be introduced on a carefully controlled and periodic basis."

Mr. Lott ended his testimony by highlighting the benefits of the proposed project for all of the residents of the Gulf Coast region. "The proposed diversions of fresh water are not objectionable from the standpoint of navigation or flood control. The potential for fish and wildlife growth from periodic, controlled infusion of river water into the zone is documented by actual past experiences. The interest of the public in the ultimate completion of this project is sizable, both economically and biologically. I believe the funding of this study is worthwhile, and I urge the Subcommittee to favorably consider an appropriation for it in Fiscal Year 1978."

Having made several points

Q - I have a service-connected disability and qualify for the 10-point civil service employment preference. May my wife also get such preference for civil service employment?

A - No. However, if the veteran cannot be appointed to a civil service job due to his disability, the wife can be entitled to the 10-point preference. You and your wife cannot, at the same time, receive the preference.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

A DEVOTIONAL COMMENTARY

AMONG THE MOST TRAGIC FACTS of human history is that we cannot afford prosperity. In this our natural human depravity is rather obvious.

In the Old Testament God warned His people as to the perils of prosperity. He said in substance: "When ye have come into the Promised Land, and have eaten and are full, beware that you forget not the Lord your God and say in your heart: 'My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth.'"

Pearlington Notes

By ONA MAE MCARTHUR
There will be a meeting of the West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department on Monday, May 2nd at 7 p.m. at St. Joseph Parish Hall. At the meeting of April 11, By-laws were discussed in detail and they plan to have copies distributed at the May 2nd meeting. The Fire Department has approximately 100 members and needs the help of the people of Pearlington. Please come to the meeting as a visitor or member and learn more about your Fire Department.

Sunday visitors of May Lushich were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Davis, Madeline and Brian McNeece, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Davis, Jr., of Picayune.

Get well to Mrs. Gladys Baxter. Also to Ada Tillman who was carried by Mobile Medic to the hospital. Also to Mary Smith in Slidell Hospital.

Happy Birthday to Mark Kardee, David Fricke, Bro. J. L. Rasberry, Louis Smith, Wilbert McArthur and James Foxworth.

Everyone enjoyed a weekend revival at Pearlington First Baptist Church. Rev. W. A. Fordham, former pastor of Napoleon Baptist Church gave the message and music by Rev. Al. Homer.

VA news

Q - What is the eligibility criteria under which the VA may provide outpatient treatment for a medical condition not caused nor aggravated by military service?

A - Veterans with a service-connected disability rated at 50 percent or more, those receiving aid and attendance allowances, Spanish-American War veterans and veterans receiving vocational rehabilitation training may receive outpatient care for any condition.

increased with goods and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched and miserable and poor and blind and naked." (Deut. chapters 6-8 and Rev. 3:14-22).

So, whether God in the old Testament is warning His chosen people Israel, or whether our Lord in the New Testament is dealing with His redeemed people in the church, the problem is the same, because the depraved sinful nature of people is the same in every age. Christian people face the same peril today whether they realize it or not. We become lifted up with human pride in our affluence. Heard most everywhere in this day are pastors and church members boasting of their elaborate and expensive church plants. Some brag with gusto about having the greatest budget, the largest Sunday School, or largest membership in some particular locality. We often swell with vanity and pride about our "numbers" in attendance, in revivals, and other gatherings and activities. We confuse real soul-winning with superficial and mechanical "decisions, commitments, confrontations" and the like. Most such code-word phrases are the way of the flesh and not the work of the Holy Spirit.

There was a time when we were a poor and persecuted sect. We were regarded as the scum of the earth and the outscouring of all things. We were not reluctant to rise up in judgement and righteous indignation against false doctrines and worldliness, and refused to have fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reproved them. But believers are no longer in the wilderness. We have reached the "Promised Land" of affluence and prosperity. We are no longer a "Gideon's three hundred" nor the "Master's minority" nor a "David's band in the cave of Adullam."

Even if we began in a cave we end in a cathedral bragging about what "we have done." When we, like the ancient Israelites are tempted to say that "our power and the strength of our hand have gotten us this wealth;" or, like the Laodiceans, are inclined to boast that "we are rich and increased with goods and have need of nothing," we have reached the danger point. The real truth is: as the Master said: "Thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked." Not only were they ignorant of their condition before God; but worse than that, they were ignorant of their ignorance. How tragic! They simply could not stand prosperity and remain humble, thankful and true to God. Few churches and church members today have done much better.

It is about time we renounce the rat race of religious competition; return to the fundamentals of the Bible, and remember again that the Gospel "is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth..." - Romans 1:16. - L.S. Walker

L. S. (DEC) ELLIOTT

Kantcha Ketchum

by L. S. (Dec) Elliott

The fourth estate has lost a friend. L. S. "Dec" Elliott, penman of Kantcha Ketchum for longer than many folks' lives, died this week in his sleep. Dec began his newspaper career in New Orleans, did a stint in the Times-Picayune in Pass Christian, and then came to the Eagle.

On Sunday, Dec was out in his boat with one of his favorite fishing companions, Alden Mauffray. During that night he went to join the many who had gone before, and to prepare for those of his friends that will follow.

We are not eulogizing Dec. The whisper of the wind; the reflection of light on our streams, lakes, bayous, creeks, and rivers; the rustle of the leaves and grasses inhabited by our upland fauna, and above all the gentle washing of waves upon our beaches, will all - eternally eulogize this man who became a legend in his own time.

We are going to miss Dec. Not only with the "miss" occasioned through the loss of a friend and companion, but also the "miss" caused by the loss of our dean of local journalism.

When he retired from his day outdoors on Sunday, Dec also retired from life. His last Kantcha Ketchum column, never written, lay in a series of notes and self addressed memorandums - ready for the final draft.

Then, Dear Dec, must serve in its place.

Goodbye old friend - from all of us - and the inhabitants of the 'great outdoors' you knew and loved so well. - Jake.

The Pass Christian Pirates ran their season record to 14-1 with a 15-1 rout of the visiting St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws last Monday afternoon.

In the bottom half of the first inning, Paul Stewart hit a three-run shot for the Pirates. Brent Jenkins hit a grand slam homer in the second inning and Timmy Ladner blasted a solo shot in the third.

Jack Ulrich was the winning pitcher and increased his record to 6-1. He struck out nine and walked two.

Scott Cox walked two and was the loser before giving way to Kerry Corr in the third.

First co-op student will work at NSTL this summer

Ivy Spencer, at 18, is a young woman who knows where she's going.

A junior at the University of Southern Mississippi majoring in physics and mathematics, she looks you straight in the eye and says she will first get a master's and a doctorate in astronomy and then spend her life in research.

"It's a new field for women," she says without the blink of an eye.

CHANCELLOR WINS

Ole Miss Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr. has been selected as the first winner of the John R. Emens National Award for Support of a Free Student Press, sponsored by Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. The award is named for the late Dr. Emens, who served as president of Ball State for 23 years. Chancellor Fortune was cited for his 1970 efforts which resulted in reversal of an official decision to place faculty censors to control student newspapers on each of the eight major university campuses in Mississippi.

But then being first isn't unusual for the Honors Program student, the first-born of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spencer III of Hattiesburg.

This summer, she will become Mississippi's first co-op student with Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA) at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Bay St. Louis. From June 1 to August 30, Spencer will be working in the lab at NORDA's acoustics division under Rockne Anderson, an oceanographer.

When USM's fall quarter begins in September, she will return to the classroom. And from then on, she will be alternating quarters of work until completing requirements for a BS degree.

Anderson says his division's output at NSTL is primarily scientific.

"We are under basic research funding, a part of the Navy," he says. "We basically meet the Navy's needs ... primarily underwater acoustics for the Navy."

Anderson, who moved to Bay St. Louis from Suitland, Md. in 1976, was a member of the principal team which made the Naval Ocean Laboratory operation shift from Washington to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Results of scientific research in his division are recorded in technical reports and professional journals.

Ivy Spencer will be part of this output.

The Dean's List student, a 1976 Blair High School graduate, was selected to work with NORDA for both her outstanding academic abilities and varied interests, according to Billie Parrott, director of USM's Cooperative Education Program, a plan of study whereby students alternate terms of traditional classroom instruction with on-the-job experience relevant to their academic major.

In addition to her scientific prowess, Spencer is musical. A clarinet player in high school, she is continuing her musical interests in college by participating in the USM Marching Band and the USM Varsity Band.

The teenager has any number of paths to follow. Yet she knows right where she's headed.

NOTICE TO BAY ST. LOUIS VOTERS...

The election of mayor and councilmen under the new city government is of highest importance to Bay St. Louis voters.

Because there are two Republican candidates for councilman in Ward 2, necessitating a Republican primary, my friends and supporters who would vote for me in the primary would be deprived of the privilege of voting for mayor.

Therefore, after much deliberation, I have decided to run as an independent candidate for councilman in Ward 2, solely for the purpose of allowing my supporters to vote for the mayor of their choice.

Please remember . . . I will still be your candidate for councilman, Ward 2, as an independent in the General Election on June 7. Your vote and support will be appreciated.

Educational Conference held at Biloxi Hilton

The Mexican villagers were just looking for artifacts to sell to tourists - but they unearthed an artistic treasure and a centuries-old mystery combined.

According to Dr. Donald Robertson, Tulane University professor of art who specializes in pre-Columbian relics, recently-discovered puzzling Mexican paintings are done in the style of Mayan art.

But they are located in an Aztec cultural area just outside Mexico City, a great distance from the nearest known Mayan settlement.

Dr. Robertson explained the new finds and the puzzles behind them at a Saturday seminar session of the Tulane Educational Conference held at the Biloxi Hilton Hotel.

The award-winning conference sponsored by the Tulane Alumni Association travels each year to cities throughout the region.

Paintings discussed by Dr. Robertson have been seen by only a few researchers and have not been reproduced in any book or magazine, he cited.

His color slides, taken during a winter trip with a group of professors who are studying with him at Tulane, showed primarily war-like art at the site of the archeological excavation.

During another afternoon seminar, Dr. E. Philip Bollier, professor of English at the university, noted that trends toward soul-baring poetry are not really new.

What has changed in recent decades, he told a Biloxi conference session, is the confession's directness. What was once disguised is now openly personal.

"For close to 200 years there has developed an expectation that the material writers use has to come from their own lives," Dr. Bollier said.

But trends toward confessional style in American poetry has led people to wonder if they are "touching the private man or woman as well as the poet."

"Constantly the focus is pulled away from the poem as something in itself to the poet," he explained noting that an "apparently autobiographical and shockingly candid" collection of poems by Robert Lowell entitled "Life Studies" was a first famous breakthrough into openly confessional writing.

But even confessional poetry reveals less about the poet's private life than it seems to, Bollier concluded.

"Poetry, after all, is an art, something a poet makes up," he said.

"The good confessional poet creates out of the materials of personal experience, poems which seem to be merely spontaneous expression," he said, "but they are impersonal in the sense that all good poetry has always been, a significant statement which tells us as much about our own lives as it does about the poet's."

In an address on "Four Daughters of Beelzebub," Dr. Robert C. Whittemore, professor of philosophy and dean of Tulane's University College, pointed out that advocates of women's liberation aren't new to the American scene.

As far back as the years immediately following the American Revolution, says Dr. Whittemore, there were free thinkers who "in their lives anticipated many of the issues which continue to this day to agitate Americans."

One of those free thinkers was Frances Wright, a wealthy Scot who came to this country and spent her time and fortune espousing such causes as free love and communal living.

What Frances Wright stood for "few even today care or dare to preach. The role of women, the life of the Negro, the rights of the workingman, the freedom of the press - all were bettered for her efforts," Dr. Whittemore cited.

Also during the conference, Dr. Henry R. Hrubecy, Tulane professor of mechanical engineering, discussed technology's impact on humanity in a seminar session.

Dr. Sheldon Hackney, Tulane president, gave a luncheon address on "The State of the University," and Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Taylor Jr., Pass Christian, served as general co-chairmen of the event.

Other committee chairman for the Gulf Coast conference included E. David McCutcheon, Pass Christian, attendance; Mrs. Henry Walton Pigott, Gulfport, decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haller, Jr., Gulfport, hospitality; Maria L. Watson, Gulfport and Jack Different, Pass Christian, publicity; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haller, Sr., Gulfport, registration.

Alexandre Eiffel not only built the tower that bears his name, he designed the framework for the Statue of Liberty and the locks on the Panama Canal.

Timothy Schafer was elected vice-president in charge of the New Orleans area, and Lucien Gex, Jr. will assume the post of vice-president of the Gulf Coast area. Brother Aquin Gauthier, S.C., director of alumni relations at St. Stanislaus, will serve as secretary-treasurer. Paul Palermo, Frank Lagarde, Eaton Lang, David Assaf, Gerard Schoen, William Foster and Lawrence Vallon were named to serve on the advisory board of the Alumni Association along with

NCOA met in Washington

Eve McDonald, Hancock County Senior Citizens, recently participated in the Annual Meeting of the National Council on the Aging (NCOA) in Washington, D.C., April 17-20. Now in its 27th year, NCOA is the country's leading organization for professionals in the field of aging.

Rosalynn Carter addressed the opening meeting of the session and announced that she would host a roundtable discussion of experts in the field of aging, including a representative of NCOA, at the White House May 10. Mrs. Carter said she hoped the meeting would help her find answers to problems such as mandatory retirement and high health care costs outlined in the 3,000 letters a week her husband receives from older citizens and their families.

Father Gene C. Barron, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), spoke on the issue of the need for housing for the elderly and HUD's role under a new administration.

"HUD Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris is personally committed to a policy which fulfills the great unfinished business of providing a decent home for all Americans—especially the elderly Americans," Fr. Barron said. In panel sessions during the conference, participants focused on topics affecting the elderly, including senior centers, employment and health service.

Corn stocks in all positions on April 1 totaled 1,976,000 bushels, 6 percent below a year earlier. The total was comprised of 1,536,000 bushels stored on-farms and 440,000 bushels stored off-farms.

Dr. Clyde Watkins, who represented Mississippi Sanatorium and T.B. Control Unit, was guest speaker. A workshop was held on education and public information concerning respiratory diseases. The business session was conducted by J. Sneed McInvalle, outgoing president.

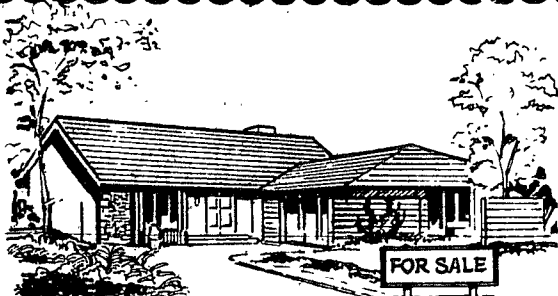

Awards were presented to goal-breaker counties for the 1976 Mississippi lung campaign.

Wheat stocks on April 1 in all storage facilities totaled 145,000 bushels. This is a decline of 52 percent from the previous year. On-farm stocks were 10,000 bushels while off-farm stocks totaled 135,000 bushels.

CHARLES WILLIAMS

battling the big guys

Many of my close friends and customers have asked how it's possible for me to compete with all the major brand gas stations that are owned or controlled by the big oil companies.

The answer is simple. I buy directly from a big independent oil company—Murphy Oil.

Now, Murphy Oil is not nearly as big as Shell, Exxon, Texaco, Mobil and the other huge international oil companies...but Murphy Oil is no small potatoes, either!

Murphy Oil is an independent company that's a leader in off-shore drilling, undersea exploration, and produces oil around the world. They also operate their own refineries to make gasoline for us independent dealers who sell Spur gas.

Nice thing about Murphy Oil being big, (but not too big) is that they make a top quality gasoline and sell it directly to me without going through a middleman.

So to my close friends and customers. Don't worry about me. As long as Murphy Oil can help me keep the prices down at the pump by selling to me directly...I'll keep selling you Spur.

Directed by Olive McKenna, the Laurie Byrd production of Fiddler on the Roof is now in rehearsal at Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on Boardman.

The musical, scheduled for presentation in late June, has a cast in excess of 30, and is under the technical direction of William LeBlanc.

Dan Griffon plays the leading role, one he has also portrayed in the same production at University of Southern Mississippi.

The staff lead is being played here by Sandra Scharp.

Season memberships to the theatre are available at Michael's Art and Gift Shoppe in the Bay, or Mollere Realty, Waveland.

Modenbach speaks to Busy Fingers

Leroy Modenbach, representative of Goodwill Industries, discussed the organizations operation at the April 19 meeting of the Busy Fingers Extension Homemakers Club in extension auditorium.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Delphine Taconi, president, a report on the recent leader training program on foods with a foreign flavor and a demonstration on bread dough art was given by Mrs. Gloria Holmes.

Mrs. Barbara Davis hosted the social hour. The next meeting will be May 17.

Mississippi leads nation in tree farms

Mississippi timberland owners who would like to become certified Tree Farmers are being encouraged, says Dwight Barrett, Columbus, chairman of Mississippi Forestry Association's Tree Farm Committee.

Currently, Mississippi has slightly more than 4700 Tree Farms, more than any other state in the nation. These farms total approximately 3,875,000 forested acres. This indicates that a large number of small landowners are included in the program, says Barrett.

Owners must apply for Tree Farm status, and allow a qualified forester to inspect their lands. Minimum area is 10 acres. The owner must have demonstrated the desire and ability to manage his woodlands for the growth and harvesting of repeated crops of forest products.

A national program of American Forest Institute, the Tree Farm program in Mississippi is administered by Mississippi Forestry Association, 620 North State Street, Jackson. Tree Farm applications may be mailed to MFA or to a local county Tree Farm chairman.

Robert T. Branton, St. Regis Paper, Picayune is Tree Farm chairman for Hancock county.

OLG Altar Guild met at rectory

Our Lady of the Gulf Altar Guild met April 14 in the rectory with Rev. Msgr. Gregory Johnson, pastor, Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, offering the opening prayer and Mrs. Irene Hill, president, conducting the business session.

Plans for the Guild's booth at the annual church fair were discussed.

A social hour followed with Mrs. Alden Mauffray as hostess.

The next meeting will be at 3:30 p.m. May 5 in the rectory.

Pre-registration planned at HNCE

Students entering Hancock North Central Elementary School for the coming school year, 1977-78, are urged to pre-register in the office of the school. This includes first graders entering school for the first time and transfer students in other grades.

Parents are reminded that Mississippi law requires a beginning first grader to be six (6) years of age by December 1.

Parents may come to the office during the hours of 9:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. to complete the necessary registration forms. The pre-registration period will run from May 2nd through May 13th.

First graders will need a certified birth certificate and an immunization record. Parents are urged to make every effort to see that their children are pre-registered for the coming year.

Again, it must be emphasized that this pre-registration is only for beginning first graders and transfer students.
